

Tissue Paper Tassel Garland

This is what tissue paper was created for... it is so easy and so inexpensive and makes a great paper garland decoration.

You will need:

- Tissue paper: ½ sheet per tassel will give you lovely full tassels.
- Glue gun (can be done without but definitely makes it easier and quicker)
- Scissors
- Twine or thin ribbon

Instructions:

1. Fold a piece of tissue paper (20" x 20" or 20" x 24") in half and in half the other way.
2. Cut strips from the open end towards the fold to create a fringe, leaving about 2 inch uncut at the folded line.
3. Once all fringe strips are cut, unfold the tissue and cut in half so you have 2 sheets with fringe (to make 2 tassels).
4. Start rolling your paper from the uncut centre section. Try to keep the tassel strips from getting tangled up.
5. Roll it from one side to the other down the centre.
6. Fold in half and then twist to create a loop for hanging. If your paper won't stay in this position, this is where the glue gun comes handy due to its instant fix-ability!
7. Thread the tassel onto some string.
8. Just keep on adding more tassels to your string to complete your garland.

Tip: Adding tassels to a balloon string can create a super cute look and pretty up any wedding or party.
